

HIGH TEA

Tea consumption increased dramatically during the early Nineteenth century and it is around this time that Anna, the 7th Duchess of Bedford is said to have complained of 'having that sinking feeling' during the late afternoon. The solution for the Duchess was a pot of tea and a light snack, taken privately in her boudoir during the afternoon. Later friends were invited to join her in rooms at Woburn Abbey and this summer practice proved so popular that the Duchess continued it when she returned to London, sending cards to her friends asking them to join her for 'tea and a walking in the fields'.

Other social hostesses quickly picked up on the idea and the practice became respectable enough to move it into the drawing room. Before long all of fashionable society was sipping tea and nibbling sandwiches in the middle of the afternoon.

The elegant surroundings of Bacchus provide the perfect setting for this quintessentially English experience. As with everything we do, attention to detail is key and our High Tea is fit for a Queen.

We have imported the very finest William Edwards bone China from England - the same crockery used at The Goring, where the late Queen Mother enjoyed taking High Tea.
